

History of Ballybay

Ballybay is a market-town, post-town, and a parish that is partly situated in the barony of Monaghan, but mainly located in the barony of Cremorne, county of Monaghan, province of Ulster. The parish is a rectory and vicarage, in the diocese of Clogher. There are also two places of worship for Presbyterians.

Localities: List the names of townlands in this civil parish List the names of the surrounding parishes. List the names and give a description of a district, poor law union, etc. Townlands can be found at the following website: List of townlands of County Monaghan

Maps and gazetteers

Records: Cemeteries - Add references to indexes to gravestones or monumental inscriptions.

Census: The purpose of a census was to gather information about people who lived in an area. While the government began census taking in 1821, only fragments exist before 1901. Censuses for 1901 and 1911 are available. Read more about the records in the Ireland Census article.

Church records Read general information about church records.

Catholic: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes.

Church of Ireland: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes.

Parish of Tullycorbet, which is located in the civil parish of Tullycorbet. The name of the church is probably St. Patrick's. Also includes list of clergy 1415-1885 and list of townlands in the Parish of Tullycorbet.

Family History Library

Baptisms July 1796-1831; Marriages 1822-1830; Burials 1814-1831

Presbyterian: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes. Cahans Presbyterian Church was united with Ballybay First and Derryvally in 1945 and all were amalgamated under the name of "First Ballybay" in 1972. The Cahans church was in the parish of Tullycorbet; Ballybay and Derryvally churches were in the parish of Ballybay.

Family History Library: Baptisms (transcripts) 1834-1984; Marriages (transcripts) 1834-1970; Ballybay Second Presbyterian Church of Ballybay, located in the civil parish of Ballybay, town of Ballybay.
Family History Library: Baptisms 1833-1914

Methodist: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes.

Society of Friends: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes.

Others: Name(s) of ecclesiastical parish, records, availability, archive, online indexes, notes.

Civil Registration: Government registration of births and deaths began in 1864. Registration of Protestant marriages began in 1845, with all marriages being registered by 1864. Go to the Ireland Civil Registration article to read more about these records.

Land records: The Registry of Deeds started in 1708. Land transactions were recorded, including immovable property passed on in a will and property given to a daughter at her marriage. Read more about these records in the Ireland Land and Property article.

Probate records: Probate dealt with the property of a deceased person. Read more about these records in the Ireland Probate Records article: Add information about probate records for this parish.

School records: Read more about these records in the Ireland Schools article. Add records for this parish.

Tax records: The valuation of property for tax purposes was started in the 1840s by Richard Griffith. A tax paid to the church, called Tithe Applotments, began in the 1820s. Read about these records in the Ireland Taxation and Ireland Land and Property articles. Add records for this parish that you know about.

Pre 1974

Northern Ireland - Post 1974

